Eerie Art Made Easy

Foam from FloraCraft® is the quick, easy, affordable way to decorate your home for Halloween, inside and out. Start with foam sheets and a StyroCutter® to create the boo-tiful wall art here and the tombstone yard art on the cover. (Spiders and cobwebs are optional!)

Monster in a Box

'Tis the season for surprises. Here's a fun one: Paint a foam sheet black, then cut it into squares to form the sides and lid of a box. Cover much of the box with duct tape bearing "teeth marks." Place your choice of monster inside, propping open the lid. (Ours is a boa-covered ball with googly eyes!) Your guests will have to watch their fingers!

Creepy Coffin

Trace templates for the skeleton and the coffin onto a foam sheet. Cut out the shapes using a StyroCutter® Plus – it's great for intricate designs like these. Spray paint the coffin parts brown, then add black lines to make them look weathered before gluing them together. Assemble the skeleton bones with craft sticks. Accent with moss and cobwebs.

Simply Scary

Two super-easy projects: The cellar door (above) is cut from a foam sheet and painted, then placed atop a foam “hand” scratching to escape. The monster at left is a foam ball wrapped in a feather boa and embellished with hands, feet, wiggle eyes and chenille antennae.

Fab Labs

Create your own mad scientist laboratory with a collection of mystic potions and other essential ingredients. Just trace various sizes of bottles and apothecary jars onto a foam sheet, cut them out, spray paint and decorate. Use black craft paper and chalk for labels.

Eye Candy

Decorate foam balls and discs with colored duct tape, ribbon and/or paint, and wrap them in cellophane to create a giant candy stash. The web wall art is cut out – carefully – from a foam sheet and painted black.

Flat-Out Fun

It appears this witch met an unfortunate end. At least her hat survived intact! Use a foam cone and disc to create the hat. Shape and duct-tape foam into the legs and shoes. Use felt for the flat body. Add hair and broom for extra effect.

Haunted Graveyard

Draw your gravestone shape(s) onto a foam sheet. (You might want to trace your outline onto paper first and then attach the paper to the foam sheet as a cutting template.) Don't forget the base! Spray paint the foam, using different colors to create an aged effect. Use stencils to create lettering and designs.

Witchy Wall Art

Best Ghoul Friend

We created this ghoulish ghost by adding chenille arms to a foam cone and wrapping the whole thing in gauze. Many different cone sizes are available – consider creating a gathering of multiple ghosts as the centerpiece of your Halloween table.
