Shining Stars

Foam from FloraCraft® makes it easy to deck your halls with homemade crafts this holiday season. These glittering, glowing creations will comfortably assume starring roles in your holiday centerpieces. We've adorned foam balls and cones with very merry green, red and white gems. Gems are easily attached with low-temp glue.

Balls of Fun

Foam balls are perfect for crafting one-of-a-kind holiday ornaments. Here, we've wrapped balls in pompoms, but you can also use gems, fabric, ribbons, sequins and other festive materials. Stack your ornaments in an apothecary jar, arrange them on a platter – they'll catch the eye in any arrangement.

Holiday Hangups

Spruce up your walls with seasonal art by covering foam sheets with holiday scenes – use greeting cards, scrap-book designs or even wrapping paper (above). We've placed our 12" canvases on shelves, but you can just as easily hang them. And speaking of hanging, we've trimmed a foam ball with garland and chenille stems to create our version of a traditional kissing ball (right).

Pretty Puzzles

Move over, Rubik – these puzzle cubes are easier and, dare we say it, more attractive than yours. We've cut up holiday greeting cards and glued the pieces to different sides of foam blocks for an intriguing three-dimensional art effect. You and yours won't be able to resist rearranging the cubes to fit the images together.

Sweet Treats

We've wrapped foam balls in colored cellophane paper and ribbon to create "visions of sugarplums" dancing in the window. The accompanying wreath consists of silk mums tucked into a foam ring, accented with ribbon and shiny mini ornaments.

Fine Fines

These fluttery, feathery trees make a dramatic tablescape in any room of the house. Here's how to make them: Use a metal nail file to tuck the center of a 4" fabric square into a foam cone, just far enough to ruffle the edges. Start at the bottom and keep tucking in squares about 1/2" apart to cover the entire cone. (A 12" cone uses about 3/4 of a yard of fabric.)

Sugar and Spice

We've wrapped foam discs in colored cellophane and attached them to a foam ring festooned with peppermint ribbon to create a candy-licious wreath. The spicy gumdrops are made by squeezing foam balls into gumdrop shapes and covering them with paint and glitter.

High Art

A gift wrapped foam cube, garland-covered foam ball and foam cone decorated with light bulbs and candy canes combine for a stunning topiary (right). Below, we simply covered foam sheets with wrapping paper and ribbon to create striking wall hangings. Add a few holiday ornaments to make them truly unique.

Greeting Spaces

Above: Display your holiday cards in style on a custom-crafted cardholder. Just wrap a foam sheet with paper or fabric and embellish it with your choice of accents. Left: Cut out a tree from a foam sheet and decorate it with seasonal messages. It makes a warm welcome for guests!

Santa's Workshop

We used FloraCraft®'s Make It: Fun® Project Bricks to build this North Pole factory. (That's a cardboard roof on top.) Foam bricks can be cut to any size and manipulated into different shapes to build an endless variety of winter playgrounds. Glue and toothpicks keep your designs intact, and you can add seasonal touches like "snow", trees and holiday lights.

On the Cover

No holiday home is complete without at least one snowman. This one is so easy to make! Just wrap three foam balls with eyelash yarn and glue them together. Add twig arms and other embellishments to make this snowman come to life. A frosty delight!
